Sandwiches are a quick and easy way to enjoy a meal. Bread is the starting point for a great sandwich – think about the type of bread and the type of filling you want to use. Then get creative with building a tasty meal. If peanut butter and jelly is a favorite and there are no allergy concerns, experiment with different breads or even use a pita pocket or whole wheat tortilla instead of bread.

Activity 1: Make a Healthy Grilled Sandwich

Goal:

Method 2:

1. Toast bread in the toaster and place on plate.
2. Arrange cheese on one slice of the toasted bread and cover with the second slice of bread, then microwave the sandwich for 20-30 seconds depending on how quickly your microwave cooks.

Safety Tip

✓ Why is it important to refrigerate your sandwiches? The cold temperature in the refrigerator prevents the growth and development of bacteria that cause spoilage. It is especially important to keep meat, fish and poultry foods cold, since bacteria thrive and grow in such foods at room temperature.

Look for More Ideas!

Sandwich fillings are seldom made from written recipes, but rather from the imagination and whatever is on hand. Vary the type of bread used. Try French bread slices, whole wheat, and rye or sourdough bread. You will find other ideas in recipe books or magazines. Prepare some of them for your family for supper or lunch. Ask them to help you decide which ones. When you plan sandwiches, think of how you can complete the meal by having food from the five groups listed at the front of your book to make your meal complete.

What have you learned?

- ✓ Discuss any additions that kids may enjoy on the sandwich such as tomatoes, mushrooms, cucumbers.
- ✓ Think about your favorite sandwiches and talk about the things you like and why.
- ✓ What happened that you didn't expect would happen?
- ✓ If you had it to do over again, what would you do differently?
